YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS OF THE 46TH CONGRESS

Considering the Census Acts—Star Mail Service—General Grant Makes a Speech.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Senator Wallace, from Select Committee to inquire into the alleged frauds in the late election submitted a report on the subject of assessments for political purposes ordered to be printed and laid on the table.

Senator Vance introduced a bill for the erection of public buildings at Greensboro, North Carolina; referred.

The bill authorizing the Secretary of War to acquire for the United States a title to the Site of Fort Stockton, Texas, was passed.

Senator Cockrell introduced a bill to establish a semi-monthly steamship mail service between the Mississippi Valley and Brazil and asked its reference to the committee on Post Offices and Post Roads.

Senators Conkling and Hereford claimed that it was substantially the same bill as that introduced by Senator Cockrell yesterday which had been referred to the committee on Commerce against Cockrell's wish.

They objected to two different committees on the same subject.

Senator Cockrell said the bills were not identical.

To day's bill merely extended to the Brazilian line provisions, allowing merchandise to pass through the mails. After more discussion Ingolls objected to the second reading of the bill. It therefore went over till to-morrow.

Senator Teller announced that the minority of the Wallace Committee intended to make a minority report on political assessments.

The bill granting a pension to Jesse Phares Ascout was advocated by Hereford as an act of justice to the brave man and opposed by Withers.

The Chairman of the Pensions Committee, because of the pension laws, do not cover persons outside of the military and naval service.

Pending the debate the morning hour expired, and the Senate resumed consideration of the Immediate Deficiency bill.

The question being on its final passage, Senator Edmunds opposed it, on the ground that the clause relating to the appointment of Marshals was practically the same as the measures prepared by a majority during the Extra Session. Deputy Marshals being Executive officers they could not be appointed by the courts without a interference between the two separate departments of the Government. The deputies so appointed would not be responsible to, or controlled by, the Marshals, and the effect would be to render their appointment useless. He objected to the courts recognizing political parties and choosing partizans for deputies. He regarded this as one of the many Democratic attempts to repeal or nullify all the legislation of the past nineteen years, intended to secure the rights of the people.

The bill was then passed by a party vote.

The clause referred to provides that the Deputy Marshals shall be appointed by the United States courts in equal numbers from the different political parties, and shall be well known citizens of good moral character.

On motion of Senator Coke, the bill ratifying the Ute agreement was taken up, but without action, when the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

Mr. Chalmers, of Miss., from the committee on Pacific Railways reported a bill to complete the Pacific Railway system, to be printed and recommitted.

Mr. Singleton, of Miss., Chairman of the committee on printing, reported a resolution for the printing of 5,000 copies of the report of the Select Committee on Depression of labor on the subject of the Chinese imigration.

Mr. Hazelton, of Wisconsin, objected to the resolution, the committee had sought depression of labor and found nothing but prosperity, the whole thing was played out and not worth cost of printing.

Mr. Singleton was far from agreeing with the gentleman, and thought the report interesting and worth printing. The resolution was adopted.

The House then considered the Senate bill amending the census act, and after striking out the provision doing away with inquiries as to naturalization and ownership of the public debt, the bill was passed.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Star route deficiency bill.

Mr. Upson, of Texas, concluded his speech began yesterday in favor of maintaining the present efficiency of the Star service.

Mr. Stone, of Michigan, said the Committee on Appropriations had found no evidence of fraud in the Post Office Departments of the administration of the Star service He favored the Senate amendments.

Mr. Reagan, of Texas, was not opposed to the Star service, but wished to see the postal service honestly conducted. The Committee rose without final action and the House adjourned.

The House Committee on Elections to-day rejected resolutions respectively declaring Washburne and Donnelly as entitled to a seat from Minnesota, and will report to the House that the seat is vacant, and a new election should be had.

GRANT'S SPEECH.

NEW ORLEANS, April 1.—To General Bussey's address of welcome last night Grant replied: Gentlemen and fellow citizens of New Orleans, After an absence of a great many years from your State I am happy to return to it and am very proud of the reception I am receiving at your hands and am very glad that its given by your citizens irrespective of former relations. Scenes of war are now passed and we are a united people I believe that if this country should unfortunately become involved in war we will all wear the same uniform and fight under the flag [cheers.] I hope for New Orleans and this section the prosperity it deserves. What benefits this city benefits the adjoining section. This State is capable of producing millions of dollars more in sugar than at present. I rejoice with you in the prosperity you have I am glad to hear that this city has been so much benefited by the improvements at the mouth of the river. What helps you helps large sections of our country and the entire Mississippi valley, in fact I wish New Orleans and the South increasing and long continued prosperity, believing and knowing that it is the best cure for disorders and sectional animosities. Industrious people are happy and contented. Again let me thank you Mr. Chairman and friends for this kind reception, and in conclusion I hope that blue and gray may never again be arrayed against each other, the past is gone, again I thank you. [Loud and continuous applause.]

LIBERALS GAINING.

LONDON, April 1.—The Times in a leading editorial on the results of the polling yesterday says: "The Conservatives must admit of very grave discouragement. The balance of gains and losses is, on the whole, decidedly in favor of the Liberals, and it is obvious if the tide of success flows as strongly as it did yesterday in favor of the opposition, the whole ministerial majority of 1875 will have melted away. This is more ominous for the ministry because it is acknowledged that the loss of several seats in Scotland and Ireland, certainly a dozen, and perhaps a score, is inevitable.

The Standard (Conservative organ) says: "It cannot be denied that yesterday's election possesses interest and significance, but it is easy to exaggerate the meaning and importance of the Liberal gains. Minor defeats of the Conservative candidates are as likely as not to be succeeded by important victories in the elections which are to follow."

The Daily Telegraph (Liberal) says: "No such sweeping change is manifested as that which struck down a great party in 1874 The result cannot be predicted from one day's falling."

Tragedy in Two Verses.

Tarboro Southerner.

The time was Spring,
And in he sprang,
As light and gay as Hannah;
He was on the sing,
The tune he sang
Was, "Have you got any gu-a-no?"

THE END.

The time was Fall,
And through he fell,
His eye was full of scorn; O,
Loud did he bawl,
"I've lost my all,
On account of your durned gone-o!"

AMONG THE DEAD.

A DANCING SKELETON, OR A DUTCH FOOL.

The Horror that Started Ball Room Revelers—Feigning Insanity to Get Out of the Army.

New York Mercury.

In the spring of 1578 George Francis Hochstein, twenty-two years of age, a native of Brunswick, North Germany, landed at Castle Garden in company with two young friends from his native town. They were all well provided with funds. All three left Germany to avoid military service. All were the sons of people in good circumstances. Hochstein alone remained in New York, the others going immediately to Chicago. Hochstein, after bidding good bye to his friends, took his baggage to a hotel in the Bowery. He was immediately an object of attention to some of his countrymen, who are always on the lookout for "greenhorns," the real object being to rope the unsophisticated stranger into one of those dens commonly called "skin games."

Hochstein visited the Atlantic Garden the first night after his arrival in America, and was delighted with the beer, the music, the ladies' orchestra, and finally with the unusual liberality of two young countrymen, who paid for his whole entertainment, compelling him to put his money back in his pocket. No wonder his heart opened to such fellows. When they proposed to show him the American elephant he was more delighted than ever Just where his new friends took him, or how it happened that he "coppered the ten spot," don't matter now. He woke up next morning with a bad headache and only six cents left out of $1 200 Hochstein told his troubles to his landlord, but the only sympathy he got was being called "a Dutch fool." It was a rough beginning for a fortune in America. Meeting one of his fellow passengers in the street, Hochstein borrowed a dollar from him. This gave him food for two days, during which time he tried hard to get something to do. He could find nothing. The third day, by the advice of another countryman, he enlisted as a common soldier for five years in Uncle Sam's service. The enlistment was made under an assumed name Hochstein being too much ashamed of what had befallen him to let his family know anything of it.

Thirteen recruits, of whom Hostein was one, were sent to help swell the ranks of the Eleventh Infantry four companies of which regiment form the garrison at Fort Sully Dakota Territory. The life of a soldier became intolerably dull and irksome to Hochstein. He was also very homesick. Desertion was almost impossible and a discharge in his case was hopeless. All sorts of plans to get released from service, he says, were discussed by the men. Insanity was the only dodge passible, and that hazardous, even dangerous.

"For more than a month," said Hochstein, "I was considering day and night how to fool them into believing me really insane. The trouble I feared was the soldiers. They knew I was sane enough, and if I tried to play off any tricks they might give me away." But in the middle of the night Private Hochstein, gun in hand, invaded the officers' quarters and endeavored to put them all under arrest. For this first display of insanity Hochstein was kept in the guard house for a month, the post surgeon declaring the prisoner not insane, but vicious. At the end of his confinement Hochstein was put back on duty, and warned not to try insanity again unless he was anxious for something worse than the guard house.

"But I knew I was insane," said Hochstein, "the only trouble was to make them believe it. Of course, I was not sane after only one trial. I tried it again."

This time Hochstein climbed up on the roof of a building and astonished the officer of the day by suddenly crowing loudly. This feat soon brought the whole garrison out to see what was going on. The officer ordered Hochstein to come down, but he refused. He was the cock that must crow three times to warn St. Peter that he had been telling a lie, he said. This was only his first crow, and it would take two hours to finish and make Peter a liar. The officer ordered some men to bring him down, but before they could do it he crowed twice more, and announced his mission of cock-crowing ended. St. Peter could tell as many stories as he pleased, but after this Col. Wood, or some one in command, would have to do the crowing whenever Peter didn't tell the truth.

This caper cost Hochstein another month in the guard house. He played his part as well as he could, hoping the post surgeon would finally pronounce him insane, and order him to the asylum at Washington. That would insure his discharge from the army. But the surgeon was still skeptical.

"During this last time in the guard house," said Hochstein, "I got desperate and determined to do something different. My insanity was a failure, and I had to think of something horrible to do or they would only keep me locked up in the guard house." When at liberty again Hochstein waited patiently for his opportunity, and when it came he promptly improved it.

There happened to be a number of ladies in the fort at this time—officers' wives and others. To amuse the ladies, the younger officers got up an entertainment and dance This was Hochstein's opportunity to put a climax to his insanity dodge. Just when the company was in full enjoyment, and the dancing was fairly inspiring came a horrible interruption. In among the dancers strode Private Hochstein, fantastically rigged out, and carrying on his arm his partner, a skeleton. "We are a little late," he said. "I had to wait for my partner, but we'll make up for lost time, won't we my dear?" addressing the skeleton. There was instant commotion. Two or three ladies fainted, others screamed with horror and fright. The music stopped. Hochstein and his skeleton were thrust out, the man himself put in the guard house. There was no doubt now about his insanity. Some of the dancers at that party will not soon forget the terrible fright he gave them. Hochstein was speedily sent to the asylum at Washington as a dangerous lunatic. From that institution he soon after received his discharge from the service. "I had trouble with that skeleton," said Hochstein. "I had to rob a cemetery to get it. It was not easy to find an old grave suitable. Then it took much work to tie it together so it would play the part at all. But that last trick was enough. They sent me to Washington, saying mine was the worst case of insanity they had ever seen."

HARNETT.

HARRINGTON, N. C., March 31.—The weather is fair and cold and the only hope for the peach crop is that the wind will continue to blow and prevent frost till the weather changes. Vegetation is very backward this spring the forest wears the dreary and dead look of mid winter.

The usual spring fires are sweeping through the pine forests, not much fencing burned but a good many turpentine boxes were destroyed, the time is fast approaching when the fifteenth amendment will no longer be able to drive his oxcart to some secluded place in the forest with empty barrels and emerge therefrom with them full of turpentine and hurries himself away to the nearest distillery to exchange it for bolted meal and yankee bacon.

When I wrote you last weak it was with fear and trembling, but as the end of the world show did not come off as predicted through some mistake in the figures the event is definitely postponed, hence this letter from

JOHNNIE REB.

BUNCOMBE.

ASHEVILLE, March 30.—The weather this morning is remarkably cool—almost as much like winter as any we have experienced since the middle of January. It comes a death-knell to the peach crop.

The Superior Court for Buncombe county adjourned sine die on Saturday last, after a session of three weeks, during which a considerable amount of business was performed. On the last day (Saturday) the motion docket ran riot. The legal fraternity have now all gone to Marshall.

Since the announcement here of the passage of the bill selling the Western North Carolina Railroad, what was before a storm of excitement has lulled down to a perfect calm, and everybody has, just as before, gone about their usual avocations with fresh vigor, however, being imbued with the idea that the sale will be the direct cause of a great and immediate influx of both capital and labor to our midst.

With regard to the agricultural interests of the community, I hear it said that the prospect of the growing wheat crop is more favorable than has been seen for many years. Just how it will terminate, of course, no one knows. Great preparations are also being made for the coming season by the tobacco growers.

The principal religious news is, that the Episcopalians hold a convocation here this week, the first ever held in this village. The saintly order of that church are looking forward to it with a great deal of interest. R.

DAVIDSON.

YADKIN COLLEGE, March 31.—The weather is a little cool, but fine and dry.

Our farmers are all at work now, and consequently not much trade for merchants.

Married in my office in Yadkin College on last Sunday night, Jerry Delap to Fannie Berrier. This is a colored couple. Uncle Jerry is fifty years old and his bride about nineteen. Treat him well, Fannie, for according to nature he will not be with you many years.

During the whole proceedings of the call session of the Legislature, we have not seen an expression on the subject of the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad from our esteemed Senator, J. M. Leach. It may be our little reading that leads us to the conclusion that he has not taken any part in the matter. The General is a man of sound judgment, and we always want to hear him speak out on all such questions.

Our young people met at the college last Monday night to have a sociable. it passed off pleasantly to all.

The Star of Hope.

Springfield (Ill.) Monitor.

Whether the Democratic party can rise to the sublime height which it should occupy in the coming campaign remains to been seen. If it should be able to lay aside every other consideration and plant itself bodily upon the issues of the hour, taking the only brave and chivalrous chieftain from the centre of the old original Thirteen States of the Union, what a spectacle it would present for all time to come, whether successful or not. Viewing his extraordinary attitude before the country, his great nerve and strength of character which has seemingly whispered to ambition to down while he grasped and battled for the truths and grand old principles of his party. Thomas F. Bayard of Delaware, stands the admiration of the world's honest and honored, While cowards have gazed with alarm, and time-servers were trembling eagerly to disavow, his dauntless spirit has contrented all opposition. The honor of his illustrious name and the honor of the party with which that name has been associated since the first breath of the infant Republic, have never been obscured by the glitter of a prize before which so many men have comprised honor. Whether the representatives of "the great Democratic heart," when assembled at Cincinnati, shall recognize the grandeur of the spectacle presented in Delaware's favorite son or not, it will do prevent the Monitor from believing him the greatest living statesman, and his record the bright particular star of hope twinkling brilliantly—in the dark sky of the threatening future—as it beckons to victory.

The Ways of the Wild West.

St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Colonel Stills, Hotchins of the Washington Post, objects to the familiar manner in which we spoke of Mr. Morrison, the Illinois statesmen, the other day. We called him Bill. It's a way we have in the wild west. Before the editor of the Post was enervated by the refinements of Washington he would have spoken of his favorite candidate for President Rashe Seymour. Now, with the soft voice of a chamberer, he address his candidate with such courteous bearing as befits him for the train of the Russian czar rather than the free and independent editorship of a great Democratic in calling a possible presidential candidate Bill.

TEMPERANCE TALK.

A WORD WITH REGARD TO LAW-BREAKERS.

Liquor-Selling to Minors—Sabbath-Breaking the Order—The Duties of Good Citizens Set Forth.

Correspondence of the News.

OXFORD, March 23.—I will state in the outset of this article, once for all, that in my short articles for your paper I have no personal allusion to either persons or locality. I never deal in personalities in pointing out, for correction, existing evils And if a fumigating character should be seen blowing and limping around because some one has skinned his toe in his search for lawless ones that violate the laws of the land, by selling whisky to village boys on Sunday, you may set it down as a pretty sure sign he is either reaping the benefits of such an institution, or in close sympathy with some one that is. Good shepherds, looking to the harmony and healthful growth of the fold, do not complain because some neighboring shepherd has taught a backwoods wolf, slipping in on the backway, that innocent sheep have rights and privileges he cannot disregard. It is the limping wolf and her expectant cubs that raise their howl of discontent at the moral view taken of the matter by the humane protector of the fold.

I know of no one that sells liquor or gambles on Sunday; but I will say that when a man gets so low down in morals that he seeks to catch up the money of christian parents' children, by enticing them into liquor shops on Sunday for the purpose of getting them under the influence of liquor, and gobbling up their money by shuffling, they ought to be taught that such a course of conduct cannot be tolerated by the better class of society. If they have no self-respect, nor regard for the moral standing of youth around them, nor for the painful throbbings of their afflicted mothers' hearts, the majesty of the law ought to be maintained by forcing them to occupy a position where their influence could not be so sensibly felt in the moral ruin and downfall of others around them.

Good citizens feel under some obligation to obey the laws of God and their country; and when a man shows that his mind is oblivious to the claims of society upon him, and exercises the faculties of his polluted nature in demoralizing and ruining others, he has reached a point in moral degradation calling loudly for the arresting arm of his country in checking him in his further progress in iniquity. A man may engage in a business, and perform acts of which he may be ashamed when convinced that he is acting wrong,—and that his business has a ruining and demoralizing tendency. For such a man good citizens have feelings of respect, and rejoice that the sunlight of a purer atmosphere has lifted his thoughts to a brighter, broader field of reflection. But when a man will persistently delude young men into habits of drunkenness and gaming on Sunday, in defiance of the laws of God and of his country, and the known wishes of their parents, he deserves the condemnation and contempt of every law abiding and peaceful citizen of the section in which he lives.

A man may sometimes be mistaken in his estimate of his duty to his fellow men; such very often is the case. But when a man wilfully disregards the laws of his God and his country, and exercises all the faculties of his soul in the moral perversion and ruin of others, well may injured, christian citizens join in the prayer, "From all such, Good Lord deliver us!"

McCLAMMY DECLINES.

A Card from Major McClammy.

Correspondence of the News.

SCOTT'S HILL, March 29.—My attention has been called to a communication from Pender county which appeared in a recent issue of your paper complimentary to myself and presenting my name for a Democratic nomination for Congress from this district, I am grateful to the people of my county for their long continued manifestations of kindness to me and to your correspondent for his kind expressions. I would of course feel highly honored by such a mark of confidence as a nomination to Congress by the Democracy of the Cape Fear, but I have considered the matter carefully with a single view to the best interests of the Democratic party and decline to allow the use of my name. Among other names mentioned for nomination is that of Major Charles M. Stedman, a soldier of a brilliant and stainless reputation; a man of the finest business habits, a graceful orator and changeless friend, most widely and favorably known, a man who rose by his own exertions to the proud place which he occupies in the popular affection of the people, and for the people, who upon the very eve of the last contest declined the use of his name because, apprehensive that it would create discord in the ranks of his party; believing that his nomination will secure to the party a leader about whose ability to redeem the district there can be no doubt. I will under no consideration allow my name to be used in opposition to his, and ask my friends to waive their preferences for me and give to him the same earnest and cordial support. Recognizing, as I do, the immense importance of the approaching election, involving not only the triumph of party but the perpetuity of free institutions and the existence of even liberty itself; convinced of the absolute necessity of harmony everywhere to defeat the advocates of third terms and indefinite tenure of office, no consideration of personal advancement should influence me in this campaign, The contest in which we are engaged is one not of sections or particular localities. It is a contest between the Democratic and Republican parties, and I appeal to every Democrat to throw aside personal feeling and labor for the redemption of the district. The district must be redeemed. Let the best and strongest man be nominated. In this day of selfish competition for place and power, let us revive that time honored Democratic doctrine of principles—not men. Let our motto be; "Everything for the good of our party and our State, and nothing for our own." Under this sign we are sure to win. With this spirit and determination will the district be redeemed.

The "Arkansas Traveler" on the Floor of the House.

Special Dispatch to the World.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—After disposing of the Consular and Diplomatic bill to-day the House took up the contested election case of Bradley vs. Simmons, from Arkansas. Bradley is a Greenback man and claims that Simmons, the regular Democratic candidate, was elected through fraud and conspiracy. The Committee on Elections reported that Mr Simmons was entitled to retain the seat. Mr. Weaver, the Iowa Greenback member, dissented, however, from the report, and recommended that the seat be declared vacant. The feature of to-day's proceedings was the appearance on the floor of the contestant, Mr. Bradley, who, according to custom, was allowed to make the opening speech in his own behalf. He is over six feet tall, heavily built and looks very much like the typical Arkansas traveller. He was at home on the floor and, utterly ignoring the conventionality that requires members to address the Chair, insisted upon saying at the beginning of almost every other sentence: "Now, gentlemen, I want you to listen to this point." After he had spoken about half an hour he grew quite hoarse, and frequently sipped a glass of water. An orange was brought to him and placed on a desk on one side, and afterwards a glass of whisky was placed on the desk on the other side, so that as he spoke he alternated between the orange and the whisky. Altogether he made up a very interesting character and amused the House considerably, especially when in one of his wild gestures he let fly his left hand and struck his champion, Mr. Weaver, who sat behind him, squarely in the face. Mr. Wait, of Connecticut, who was also near the Arkansas orator, had to dodge every few minutes to avoid a blow from one of these gestures. Mr. Siemons's reply was brief and well tempered. Without disposing of the matter the House adjourned. There is little doubt that the report will be sustained. Mr. Springer will make an effort to get up the Curtin-Yocum case next.

In this State we shall favor instructing the delegate not for any particular man, but against Mr. Tilden. We believe this to be the wish of nine-tenths of the Democrats in the State.—Pittsburg Herald

Old Peggy Burns, an old colored woman of this town, who peddles peanuts around for the accommodation of those who are too lazy to go after them, is the mother of 75 children, grand and great-grand children, and she is a strong, healthy, young looking woman, and bids fair to live a number of years yet.—Cape Fear Banner.

THE RIVAL CONVENTIONS

TAMMANY AND THE REGULARS QUARTER AT SYRACUSE.

Wieting Opera House Hired by the Regulars and the Grand Opera House by John Kelly.

New York Sun.

SYRACUSE, March 30.—The regular Democratic State Committee having issued the call for the Democratic State Convention, which is to select delegates to the Cincinnati Convention, to assemble in Syracuse on April 20, Tammany Hall, through its local agents, promptly set to work to secure facilities for holding an anti-Tilden Convention in this city on the same date. Mr. Alfred Wilkinson, a leading banker of Syracuse, who is especially prominent in guarding the interests of Mr. Tilden and the regular organization of the Democratic party, on Monday made an arrangement with the proprietor of the Vanderbilt House, whereby that hotel was to be given up entirely to the Irving Hall delegation of the city of New York, and such delegates as this delegation choose to admit. This arrangement shuts out John Kelly and Tammany Hall from the Vanderbilt House, which for years past has been the headquarters of the Tammany braves and of John Kelly, as it was of Tweed before him. Mr. Wilkinson is the owner of the Globe Hotel, and had no difficulty in making a similar arrangement with its landlord. The headquarters of the regular Democratic State Committee will be in the Globe. Mr. Wilkinson also made a contract with Mr. Lehnen, manager of Wieting Opera House, for its use for holding the Convention.

Although shut out from the two leading hotels, the Tammany men were by no means dismayed at the prospect. Frequent telegrams passed between John Kelly and his henchmen in Syracuse this afternoon. The Tammany chief instructed his Syracuse backers to hire a hall at any price, declaring that he would build a wigwam if he couldn't hire a hall. Kelly's friends had no difficulty in securing the Grand Opera House for the use of the Kelly Convention, the proprietors, Messrs. Lynch & Moore, being in sympathy with Mr. Kelly. The opera house is a new structure, and will seat 1,500 persons. It has capacious ante-rooms for the use of committees, &c. The Kelly men next set to work to secure a place where the Tammany men could lodge. They made a contract this afternoon with the proprietors of the Remington, Temperance, Congress, and Empire Hotels, whereby these hotels should be given up solely to the use of the delegates to the Kelly Convention. The Empire Hotel is the largest in Syracuse. The Kelly men have obtained ample hotel accommodations, as the four hotels leased to them will accommodate 1 200 persons. The citizens of Syracuse offer to open their houses for the accommodation of the delegates to either Convention. Such a course, however, will not be necessary, as the hotels can take care of all who may come.

The following State Legislatures have been polled says the New York World, and this is the result:

The second choice of the friends of Governor Seymour among these legislators was almost invariably Senator Bayard.

Meeting of the Executive Committee of the N. C. Agricultural Society.

The Executive Committee of the North Carolina Agricultural Society met at the Yarborough House last night, Henry A. Reams, Esq., chairman, and C. B. Denson secretary.

The application of Capt. Natt. Atkinson, president of the North Carolina Fruit Growers' Association, for the use of the Exhibition Hall at the Fair Grounds, for a display of fruit by that Association in August next, was considered and the request acceded to.

The report of the committee on the disbursements of the last Fair was received, and, on motion of Mr. Blake, was adopted.

The committee on the premium list presented their report, the further consideration of which was postponed until the next meeting.

On motion of Pulaski Cowper the use of an office at the Fair Grounds was granted to the Sunday-school of which Rev. J. K. Hoswell is superintendent.

Henry A. Reams, Esq., was, on motion, appointed a special committee to confer with leading tobacco raisers, manufacturers and warehousemen, in the interest of the Fair.

None receive so much benefit, and none are so profoundly grateful and show such an interest in recommending Hop Bitters as women. It is the only remedy peculiarly adapted to the many ills the sex is almost universally subject to. Chills and fever, indigestion or deranged liver, constant or periodical sick headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency, are all ready removed by these Bitters.

DAILY NEWS

FRIDAY, APRIL 2, 1880.

GEO. C JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r

IF their claims are any proof of the result, the Conservatives are likely to be successful in the coming English election. They claim that they will have a majority of 190 in the next Parliament, a gain of 20 seats. The Liberals, on their part, only claim for themselves a slim majority of 30. Taking the mean between thes two extremes, it would give the Parliament to the Tories by 35 majority.

THE rapid adance in firearms and munitions of war is attracting attention in and out of the market. Lead has gone up from 2¾ to 5½ cents per. pound, copper from 16 to 28 cents, gunpowder from 10 to 20 per cent, and fixed cartridges from 10 to 20 per cent, The advance in firearms is chiefly due to the strong market for iron and steel. It cannot be ascertained that there are any orders from foreign government except a few unimportant ones for gunpowder on Chilian and Peruvian account.

THE following from the Omaha Republican is a neat specimen of the sort of stuff the wild, untamed Western Republican editor gives his readers: "The Democrats are just now engaged in denouncing the United States Supreme Court as a packed partisan body. If they had the power they would tear up the tombstones in all the national cemeteries, blot out every vestige of the acts passed to secure the results of the war, pension all rebel soldiers, pay off every rebel claim, and in one word make loyalty a crime and treason a virtue. There are enough of the soldiers of the Union left to vote down what they once fought down." What terrible fellows we are to be sure.

THE emigration from Italy to this country has grown to such proportions that the Italian Government is becoming alarmed. Last year the number of emigrants was 135,000, and this year it promises to be much larger. Stringent measures are being taken by the government to prevent this exhaustive outflow. It will be very difficult to keep the Italians at home, however. They are so loaded down with taxes that it is almost impossible for them to earn enough to get bread. They see nothing in the future that promises an an improvement in their condition. Italy must reduce her army and thus reduce taxation, if she would keep her people at home. The debt of Italy is very large, and her finances are in an extremely embarrassed condition.

THE school attendance in Ireland, particularly, has fallen off by reason of the prevailing destitution. The decre se in the number of the children at the public schools is already 40,000, and is growing greater every day. This is doubtless due to the fact that these children are half starving and entirely without proper clothing. It is probably due also to the indifference brought about by suffering. People who are starving to death scarcely think it worth while educating their children. A lady in Ireland has devised a happy remedy for this evil. She makes the schools the distributing depots for provisions to the scholars. The result is especially happy and the boys and girls are now eager to go to school, where they receive not only food for the mind but for the body also.

THE Chinese question has certainly assumed some curious features in California. One of the queerest things is the difference that the Californians pretend to discover between the Chinese and Japanese. While the former are hated, the latter are extremely popular and liked, and a distinct invitation has been extended to them to stay. There are several thousand Japanese on the Pacific Slope, but it is said that they fall into American ways at once, dress in our fashion and soon become thoroughly Americanized. The puzzle in California is how to legislate against the Chinese and yet not against the Japanese. They are both Mongolians of the same race, and so alike that it is often difficult to tell the two people apart.

CAUTION.

We implore our party leaders to be cautious of every stop they make. Our enemies are looking on with eagle eyes, eager to take advantage of any blunder or mistake we may make. Our present political outlook is hopeful. The Republicans are even more divided than the Democrats in the State of New York which is conceded to be the pivotal State in the coming contest. Then we say let us be cautious and make no blunders which can work defeat.

Tammany State Convention to Meet in Syracuse, N. Y.

The Executive Committee of the Tammany State Committee met in their rooms in 23 Park row, Tuesday, and, after consultation, determined to hold their State Convention in Syracuse, on April 20. The call for the Convention is as follows:

"All Democrats and others who favor the support of Democratic principles and of representative conventions fairly chosen to express the will of the people in primary bodies assembled, and who are opposed to a pledged delegation to the ensuing National Convention for the support of any one man, but in favor of the nomination of an upright, acceptable candidate for President who can unite the Democratic party of this State and of the nation, are requested to meet in their respective Assembly districts, and elect three delegates therefrom to represent the Democratic electors of this State in a convention hereby called to meet in the city of Syracuse on Tuesday, the 20th day of April, 1880, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of choosing delegates to the National Convention, to be held at Cincinnati on the 22d day of June next, for the nomination of an electoral ticket and for the transaction of such other appropriate business as may come before the Convention."

"Yew York, March 30, 1880.

NATHANIEL MOAK, Ch'mn.

R. M. SKEELS, Secretary."

Comptroller Kelly said that the headquarters of the Tammany men in Syracuse will be at the Vanderbilt House, and that Shakspeare Hall had been secured for the Convention.

Russian Superstition Breeding Madness.

London Telegraph.

Not only does the vast majority of Russian peasants believe firmly in witchcraft, but the name of its superstitions is legion. There is scarcely a village in Russia without its "Jurodivi" or inspired idiot its "Kaldunja" or sorceress, and its "Kilkusha," a hysterical screaming woman, subject to fits, who is an especial object of fear to her neighbors. A strange illness, attributed by some eminent Russian pathologists to the effect produced upon the nerves by all those silly superstitions, has made its appearance in several provinces of the empire among the hearty and robust rural populations. No efficacious method has as yet been devised for treating this malady, which generally culminates in insanity. The village popes regard it with indifference, and make no effort to discourage the demoralizing credulity in which it originates. The district surgeons shrug their shoulders over it, and confess their inability to comprehend the phenomena of its genesis and incubation. Meanwhile, it appears to be rapidly spreading, and largely recruiting the ranks of the "Chlisti," a fanatical sect which practices fasting and self-castigation with the most shocking results to its followers, especially to those of the female sex."

The Awful Jimborazinctum That Spoils Things.

To cry the "machine" has become the resort of the cowards of politics.

Beat them in a township, and they complain that it was the "machine" that did it.

Vote them down ten to one in a county, and they'll swear it was the terrible "machine" that wrought their ruin.

Bury them out of sight in a State, and through the heaped-up ballots that cover their prostrate forms they will continue to bellow "machine! machine!"

"Were not the majority of votes against you?"

"Yes."

"Weae they nst legal votes?"

"Yes."

"Should not the majority of votes govern?"

"Yes; but then the 'machine' did it."

"But what 'machine?' Whose 'machine?' Eon't you think you'd better get one of these machines yourself?"

The whine of a majority who think that an infernal machine of some sort has run over them every time ten men are shown to be fewer in number than twenty, has become as hauseating as it is monotonous. We don't know of any other way than to reverse the time-honored rule, and declare that hereafter the fewest votes shall win—the shortest pole take the persimmon.

The Republican Senators Oppose the Garfield Proposition.

There is current to-night a well-authenticated report that the Republican senators to-day conferred together in regard to the House immediate deficiency bill, and unanimously determined to oppose the marshals' clause, which really owes its paternity te the brilliant Republican leader of the House—General Garfield. A similar state of things existed at the extra session, when Messrs. Garfield & Co. went for the compromise army bill, and Messrs. Conklin & Co, assailed it with much bitterness in the Senate. General Garfield represents Shermanis in Congress, and Senator Conklin Grantism, and hence they are not apt to run in the same grove of thought opinion. The Republican senators, it is stated, say that it is not right to attach political legislation to an appropration bill.

Sly Doctors.

It is a fact that many of the "segulao" doctors who will not recommend Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure for the diseases which it so effectually removes, yet use it "on the sly" in their practice. They must soon adopt it openly as the standard remedy.

An Iowa mother remarked the other day that if her two-year-old girl had been born an Ohio man she would now be engaged in supporting the family in some office or other. Women have very curious ideas about some things.

Going to Siberia

The czar of all the Russias has an immense, cold country where he sends his criminals, and he punishes for very slight offenses, so he has many people to send. These convicts leave St Petersburg at night, the men having their hands chained behind them, wearing leg chains of four pounds weight all the way. The women go in gangs by themselves, wearing black cloaks with hoods. The men who conduct them to this desolate land are mounted on horse and have long whips which they use for the least provoca ion. Once there, they work year after year in in the mines, never seeing the light of day. They sleep in recesses hewn out of the rocks, into which they creep on their hands and knees. They work Sunday the same as any other day. No man who has worked in the mines is every allowed to return home. When he has lost the use of his limbs which happensed in a few years, he is hauled up to die in the poor house.

One Way to Economize.

Many a poor man, if required to account for the manner in which he has expended his income, would find bills of his family physician for "medical services" among the leading items. In seven cases out of ten, acute diseases are the result of some neglected chronic disease. Thus, fevers invariably result from diseased conditions of the blood and liver, and a timely use of altera tive, or blood-purifying, and cathartic remedies would have averted the prostrating illness, that often leaves the system irreparably injured. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are the best alteratjve and cathartic medicines yet compounded. Full directions are given for administering them, together with an accurate description of the symptoms demanding their use. They will not cure all human ills (as some medicines are advertised to do), but they will cure the diseas s for which they are compounded and recommended.

Cuticura

REMEDISE

Have Achieved the most noted success of any Medicines of Modern Times.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter have never doubted the specific properties of Cuticura, Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Soap, for the speedy, permanent, and economical cure of Humors of the Blood, Skin and Scalp. They are however, astonished at their universal success; for it was to be expected that in the hands of some they would fail solely from spasmodic or ignorant use of them

They are enabled to say without fear of contradiction that no remedies ever achieved in the short space of one year the number of wonderful cures performed by the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

SALT RAHUM,

Covering the Body for ten Years, Permanently cured.

LAW OFFICE OF CHAS HOUGHTON,
17 Congress Street, Boston, Feb 2s, 1878.

Messrs WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I feel it a duty to inform you, and through you all who are interested to know the fact, that a most disagreeable and obstinate case salt rheum or Eczema, which has been under my personal observation from its first appearance to the present time,—about ten (10) years,—covering the greater portion of the patient's body and limbs with its peculiar irritating and itching scab, and to which all the known methods of treating such disease had been applied without benefit, has completely disappeared, leaving a clean and healthy skin, under a few days of profuse application of CUTICURA

I can and do heartily advise all similarly afflicted to try the remedy which has been so effectual in this case

Very truly yours,
CHAS. HOUGHTON.

Liver Complaint.

And Dyspepsia Treated by the Resolvent, Gains 5 1-2 pounds on one Bottle.

GENTLEMEN,- I have had Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, with running sores on the side of my neck, for ten years. Doctors did no good. I have been spending or eight years and it did me no good. Everything I ate distressed me. I got reduced from 1 9 to 132 pounds. At last I tried the RESOLVENT and it helped me right off, and on one bottle I gained five and one-half pounds. It is doing the business, and I am gaining for it strong.

Yours truly,
JOHN H. ROY

414 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., Nov. 15, 1878.

NOTE.—Cuticura is admirable assisted in cases of extreme physical weakness, or when the virus of Scrofula is known to lurk in the system, by the internal use of the Cuticura Resolvent, without doubt the most powerful blood purifier and liver stimulant in the world.

Cuticura Soap is an elegant toilet and medicinal assistant to Cuticura in the treatment of all external ailments. For chapped hands, rough skin and tan, sunburn, and the lesser skin troubles, it is indispensable; as a soap for the toilet, the nursery and bath it is the most elegant, refreshing, and healing before the public.

These great remedies succeed where all others heretofore in use fail because they possess new and original properties never before successfully combined in medicine.

The Cuticura Remedies are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, Boston, and sold by all Druggists Price of Cuticura small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes, containing two and one-half times the quantity of small $1. Resolvent, $1 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; 3 cakes, 75 cents.

Ford's Southern Comedy Company at Tucker Hall to-night.

The following notice from the Richmond State is evidently from the capable critical pen of Bennett, the thoughtful and and brilliant dramatic writer of that journal. As the same company appears here to-night at Tucker Hall, we commend it to the perusal of the lovers of fine acting in Raleigh:

"We have not seen a better house this season, whether in quantity or quality, than that which was present last night to witness the performance of Adolphe D'Ennery's great dramatic play of the Two Orphans, by Mr. John T Ford's Baltimore Company. This is considered by many good critics the greatest play of the time, because it combines in straighter sequence all the theatre in its various departments, and contributes to the illustration of a story without even once twisting the story from the course of its natural development. Its scenes follow each other with the unerring eye to heightening contrast that an artist loves to see in a picture gallery. It almost exhausts the panoramic power of the stage artist. The costumes it requires are such as fit the scenery, and the contrasts between the squalor of Pierre and Louise and the satins and laces of De Vaudrey and the gay women of the second act are as artistically effective as the contrast between the illuminated grounds and Chateau of Beil Air and the snow-covered Place de St. Sulpice. The multiplied situations of the play afford the orchestra inspiration for the gayest and saddest phases of accompanying music. The language of the play, as D'Ennero wrote it, is just as happily contrasted and varied. The slang of the Frochards, the legal, precise sentences of the Minister, the flowing ones of De Vaudrey, the simple phraseology of the two Norman sisters are perfectly differentiated without once descending to the puerile subtilities of the technical dialectician. The imagination is awakened almost at the rise of the curtain. When that poor blind girl stands in the great city alone, she foreshadows to all classes of spectators a very iliad of woes—the lawlessness of the period, the mutterings of the coming revolution, its causes and its justifications, the manners of the highest and lowest of society, the religious and charitable offices of the church—all pass in review before the auditor. Nor in the picturing of human character has the great dramatist been less affluent. Old Mother Frochard, with her cruelty, base sensuality, grim humor, affection for her boy, memory of her bandit husband, is as deeply impressed upon the general mind, from Paris to Richmond, as ever was the individuality of Lady Macbeth. Pierre, with his physical deformity and spiritual beauty, is as much an entity as any creation ever projected upon the stage. In all that can delight the eye or the ear, awaken sympathy for suffering, detestation for wickedness—in all that can arouse the imagination and enchain the interest of a mass of beings of all classes assembled in a theater, the "Two Orphans," we believe, stands unrivaled among the productions of modern dramatists. And this is not any one man's verdict, nor the verdict of any one class or country, but that of millions who have laughed, wept and shuddered at its representation in every civilized language of the world.

"Its production last night in Richmond for the third or fourth time, though under very unfavorable circumstances, before one of the largest general audiences, composed of all manner of people, and the wild enthusiasm with which the telling parts were received was only a further proof of the universal proposition. We were particularly struck with the fine acting of Miss Marie Bockel as Louise, who, to our mind, is quite equal in the role to Miss Kate Claxton, the Louise par excellence. Henriette was rather heavy and emotional for our light and girlish little favorite, Miss Belle Mackenzie, though we have no doubt she will improve through age, ripeness, suffering, and other experiences in the grander passions. Too much praise cannot be awarded, however, to Miss Blanche Thompson for her splendid rendition of the rather ungracious role of the unfortunate Marion. Miss Thompson is a most pleasing and painstaking artiste of whose performances in light opera we have had frequent occasion to speak in favorable terms. Mrs. Germon gave us a most satanic mother Frochard, while the Jacques of Downing was equally diabolical—a worthy son of a worthy mother. Pierre, the Cripple, was excellently rendered by Mr Denham, as was also his dual comedy part of Picard, the valet. The other parts were very acceptably filled."

The Florence Nightingale of the Nursery.

The following is an extract from a letter written to the German Reformed Messenger, at Chambersburg, Penn:—

A BENEFACTRESS.

Just open the door for her, and Mrs. Winslow will prove the American Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are so sure, that we will teach our "Susy" to say "a blessing on Mrs. Winslow" for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colicking, and teething siege. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup relieves the child from pain, and cures dysentery and diarrhœa. It softens the gums, reduces inflammation, cures wind colic, and carries the infant safely through the teething period. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." If we had the power we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the infant race. Sold by all druggists.
